The Research Expo will facilitate the sharing of integral Christian scholarship across several academic disciplines. The format allows many scholars to present their research to fellow Christians by putting poster sessions on display for the duration of the conference and presenting 30-minute summaries of their papers during the conference. Presenters may also distribute papers at their discretion during the conference and discuss their research informally during “expo” periods (free time slots in the conference program, often in the evening). The following presentations will be included in the Expo portion of the conference (exact timing is pending):

- Suresh Balraj, (India), The Mission of Christian Higher Education: Sharing Knowledge in the Context of IPRS
- Paul Chi, Christ's College (Taiwan), The Feasibility of Christian Higher Education in China
- Taeyon Choi, Baekseok University (Korea), “Theistic Evolutionism” Controversy In Korea
